Highlight

Nature and the outdoors life appeal to Haavard, 16, who comes from a small farm in Norway. Every day in good weather, he bikes for an hour and takes long walks in the forest. With his family, he enjoys traveling; in the winter, they vacation in the mountains of Norway, using skis to move between mountain lodgings. In the summer, they vacation in southern Europe, and Haavard is the primary English speaker-translator for his family. At home, Haavard's favorite chores include taking care of the rabbits, hens, and cats. He is also a bit of a handyman, changing the tires and painting. Interested in history and politics, he tries to stay current by watching TV news, documentaries, and the Discovery Channel (but also admits to an enjoyment of some comedy shows). Haavard enjoys discussing the world situation. He hopes to have a career that makes a difference in the world. Described as self-confident, open-minded and curious, Haavard belongs to a club that opposes Norway's EU membership. He hopes for an open, active host family with a good sense of humor and plans to stay in contact the rest of his life!
